= 6. 6. (10) x , 244). (ANS 1415 : "10 , 2.1 MJ # +57 /14 P. 1213 - -18DV -18 1013 JULY 121 6,710 NUR (1 625 / WINY, 12-184 10) 12/12 1986 1985 2086 = 1986 9861 7/10 NB 17 78A 13 ell Mike lock ma er als essueig vieller The letter is danied to KNDT. IN TIM OFM 2 Liver 12 V is pel /º 10) Les 200 8. chang de 11:04 (+ (x .) 22) - (2x 2 2x 12) 13, NE religious notiones Joseph Levin

A Member of Abraham Maimonides' Mystical Circles

Appeal for a Silk Weaver

7.-8. 12.289

(The writer of this letter was certainly the Dayyan or judge of al-Mahalla in the Mile delta, to which town our scholar had come from Old Cairo. Despite the many polite phrases, it is evident that the recipient was not of a much higher social standing than the Dayyan, who most probably was a prespectus business man.)

Tour grateful servant
Judah

I shall clothe her priests with salvation, etc. a)

This letter has been preceded by others addressed to the Presence of my lord, the most illustrious elder, the Haver, the h(onor), g(restance and) h(olimosy of our) Ha(ster) a(nd) T(eacher) Abraham, the respected elder, the honored notable, the wise and the prudent, "The Pride of the Köhanim" - may God establish his prosperity, in which I expressed my longing for him and my regret of not sharing the privilege of his presence, as well as my prayers for him and him. The Creator - may (He be exalted) - knows that it is my wish that your position should be even more exalted, your influence enhanced, and your name become famouse Tou know that the bearer of this letter, the illustrious master, the religious and devout M. and T. Tähör, the scholar, who is Godfearing from his youth, is one of the disciples of our lord, the Hagido) - may his glory be emalted and his honor be enhanced. My tongue fails to tell the praise of a person like him, who has pushed out the world of existence from his heart and is seeking only the Greator. He intends now to marry a girl, who has been orphaned by the death of her mother, sulely for the sake of God, for no other reason, and since she does not even possess a robe, he took off one of his sum robes and elothed her with it. A long time ago, he had taken an oath to marry only in al-Mahalla; therefore, he had to leave for al-Mahalla with the girl, her father, and the latter's wife.

When I examined his situation, I found that he was in arrear with the poll*tax, and had left (Old Caire), while in dire circumstances, having little for his maintenance, except a few dirhams given to him by our lord, the Rayyis, d) to enable him to make this journey. I collected for him secretly one hundred and twenty dirhams, most of which has been already spent, with only a little remaining.

I am applying new to you to kindly help in this work of charity, which is very worthy, for a document becomes valid only by its signatures. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan to an orphan and to pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan and the pay the polletax for him, as this is like the ransoming of a captive. **

There is no greater charity in the world than marrying an orphan and the pay the polletax for him the world than marrying an orphan and the pay the polletax for him the world than marrying an orphan and the pay the polletax for him the world than an orphan and the pay the polletax for him the world th of the deed. And please, it should be done in a dignified way.

以其為以動不知以不以強不強不能不能被人不能被人不知此人

He also mentioned to me that he had some experience in the art of silk weaving, but did not have the equipment nor the means to acquire it, in addition to being sought for (by the police) in connection with the policear. There is really no need to say more. Every dirham given to him is (like) a whole burnt sacrifice on the alter. 6) For first of all, he is of a good family. Secondly, he cocupies himself with study and exertion for what pleases the Creator, h) in addition to his utmost religiosity. Had I not known that you have the highest aspirations, I would not have troubled you with this. May the H(cly one) - b(e He) b(lessed) - let you always be one to whom all needy apply, may He further you in your undertakings, may He let no one rejoice at any calamity of yours, and may He preserve you your dear son.

In conclusion, I kiss again the hands of your high Presence and send you my best wishes on the occasion of these high holidays. Bay the H(ely one) inscribe you in the book of life and in the book of forgiveness, pardon, and atonement. I ask you kindly to greet all our friends and to give them my best wishes for this happy and blessed feast.

Kindly try to provide this contribution quickly, for it is possible that he will pass the Fast in Minyat Champai) and come to see you during the Holidays. I want to spare you inconvenience. There is really no need to say more. Your welfare may increase permanently. To the illustrious lord, Haver Isma Cal, k) respectful greetings.

こうない ははないのと あいましている かんしゅうしょう

Hotes

- a) Fralm 152:16 a reference to the recipient's lineage from the priestly tribe of EShanim, a fact, about which he was obviously very proud, as his homorific title "The Pride of the K." fer which he had certainly paid much indicates.
- b) Cf. I Kings 19:12.
- e) The reference is to Abraham Maimonides, head of the Jews in the Fatimid empire 1205-1237, styled Hagid in Hebrew and Rayyis in Arabis. He was the initiator of a pictist religious reform movement (see p.).
- d) Bee Note s)

関係の変化を対するとなった。 を最終をはなっていた。 ない

- e) The addressee had obviously contributed previously for the man consermed. The pun on the legal phrase means to say that just as a document becomes valid only through its signatures, thus the addressee should erown his benefactions by a special effort.
- f) For if the man is unable to pay the pollitax, he will be thrown into prison (see p.).
- g) I.e., is given wholly to God. Of. Deuteronomy 32:10.
- h) I.e., meticulous observation of the injunctions of religion.
- 1) Minyat Ghamr is a town on the right arm of the Mile, on the way between al-Mahalla and Cairo. The man planned to spend the Fast, i.e., the Day of Atonement, in that town and to come for the Feast of Tabernacles, which is five days later, to Cairo. Most probably, a copy of the letter was sent well in advance by messenger, while the devout silk weaver carried with him a second copy in the way of introduction.

Minigat Zifla

k) Most probably, the recipient's son, an actual or honorary graduate of an academy like his father.